Secretary of the State and Attorney General Collect More Than $1.3 Million From Companies Illegally Doing Business in Connecticut

HARTFORD – Connecticut Secretary of the State Denise Merrill and Attorney General George Jepsen announced that enforcement efforts against out-of-state companies operating in Connecticut without legal authority have yielded more than $1.3 million in Fiscal Year 2018. The penalties were paid out by more than 275 companies, the largest fine being $30,795. Secretary Merrill, Connecticut's Chief Business Registrar said, "We do everything possible to make it easy to do business in Connecticut, including creating an online business formation tool to assist out-of-state entities with operating legally in Connecticut. Although in many cases a failure to register may have been unintentional, in order to ensure accountability to consumers, it is critical that the state maintain a record of businesses in operation."

"Out-of-state companies may not be aware that they must register before conducting business in Connecticut; however, it is important that they do so," said Attorney General Jepsen. "Registration provides consumers with a layer of security and ensures that all businesses are operating on a level playing field. It is my continued hope that, through these joint enforcement efforts, we can educate out-of-state businesses about their responsibilities under Connecticut law and help to encourage compliance. I commend Secretary Merrill and the efforts her office has made in recent years to expand the online services available to businesses that make the registration process much easier."

State law requires that business corporations, nonstock corporations, limited partnerships, limited liability companies, limited liability partnerships, and statutory trusts formed outside of Connecticut must obtain a certificate of authority from the Secretary of the State's Office and pay a fee set by statute before transacting business in Connecticut.

In fiscal year 2018, almost 5,000 foreign entities properly filed with the Secretary of the State's Office.

Businesses are required to obtain authorization to do business in Connecticut in order to protect consumers with a grievance against an out-of-state firm. Authorization requires businesses to appoint an agent for service of process in Connecticut, which is able to accept legal papers if court action is taken. Companies in violation of the state's law are subject to a $300 fine for every month the company is transacting business in Connecticut without legal authority. In addition, some business corporations are required to pay the annual license fee required by statute for years they should have been registered with the Secretary of the State's office. After obtaining a certificate of authority to transact business in Connecticut, out-of-state companies must also file a yearly annual report with the Secretary of the State's office.

(A complete list of companies paying fines is attached)
